My dear Taylor

Your books have arrived safe — and much obliged am I to you for having me in your thoughts — per- — severa me cimere" — there is a great pleasure in indulging the sentiment as Cicero says to Atticus — Isaac Taylor advertises — "his personal recollections to appear in the periodi- cal — Good Words — when will a certain John Taylor do the same?

Frank Walton's fortune is made - I shall heart ily congratulate his amiable Father - poor Henry! he is declining
I fear - I wanted him much to undertake the "Sonnet Wealth" of England
yours dear friend
